

Driving Licence Rules in Spain

1/ Driving Licence issued in Member States of the European Union or in Norway, Iceland and Liechtenstein:

- You have the right to drive with your national driving licence in Spain (car or scooter).

2/ Driving Licence issued in a non-European country:

- You need to get your driving licence translated by an official translator into Spanish – you can do that in your own country or directly in Spain. Please ask us for further information.
- With an official translation of your driving licence you are allowed to drive in Spain for a time period of 6 months.
- If you come from a Spanish spoken country and your driving licence is issued in Spanish, you are allowed to use it for a time period of 6 months in Spain. Afterwards, you need to apply for an international licence in Spain.

3/ Driving Licence issued in the following non-EU countries: Andorra, Switzerland, Morocco, Croatia, Bulgaria, Rumania, Argentina, Columbia, Venezuela, Chile, Ecuador, Peru, Uruguay, Dominican Republic and Chile:

- You have the right to drive with your driving licence in Spain for up to 6 months. Afterwards you need to apply for an international driving licence.
- You do not need to get your licence translated into Spanish.

How can I get my driving licence translated?

You can do this with any Spanish translator who is qualified to translate and stamp official documents from other countries as well as through a translator in your own country qualified to translate official documents into Spanish. Our recommendation:

Josep Peñarroja (Official Translator: English, French, Italian, Portuguese, Catalan, Spanish)

Avenida del Bogatell 21 5thª
08005 Barcelona
Tel/Fax: (+34) 93 22 11 0 55
Email: jppf@eresmas.net

Opening hours: 9:30 – 13:30h.
Costs: 30 € per document
Valid for: 6 months (only valid for Spain)

Hereby I confirm that I have been informed of the risks and that I am aware of possible occurring charges deriving from the driving licence policies under Spanish law.

I am driving on my own risk with my driving licence and am taking full responsibility for possible occurring charges in relation to this matter.
